This book, A Perfect Love and a Blessed Life, is a tribute to my beloved wife, Jane. It is about a marriage of over 54 years during which there was never a harsh word between the two of us, nor was there ever a single argument. Each of us has needs and throughout our lives we are constantly encountering options. We consciously or unconsciously make choices. This book is about a couple, who, after five months of marriage, sat down and talked about what was the most important thing they desired in life. Was it a great career, or achieving a lot of money, or something else? In our case, the most important thing we wanted was to be together every possible minute of every day. There was absolutely nothing better than the two of us being together. We felt that the other was the most important person on earth and we each felt it was no longer "my" life, it was - joyfully - "our" life. A perfect marriage is not achieved by luck. It is achieved by reaching common goals and making life choices that support those common goals. This book is about how that "perfect marriage" of 54 years was achieved by us.
